

Managing visits to our Church Grove site in Ladywell

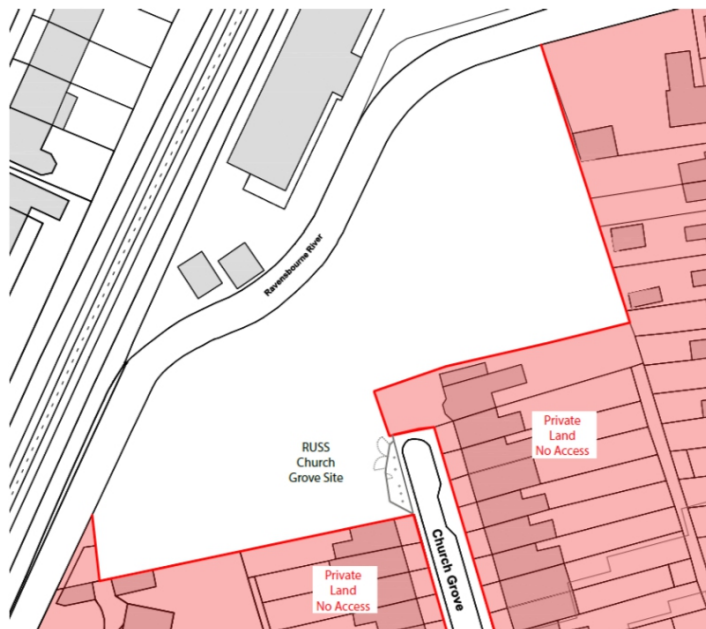

RUSS is very, very excited to be getting ready to start on site at Church Grove later this year.

Some of the people that are already visiting the site have, however, caused a few issues with our new neighbours.

We don't want to add to this with Members, the media or random groups turning up and trying to look at or gain access to the site. At present there is nothing to see (the site has a high hoarding that you can't look over - you'll get a much better idea of it from Google Earth).

To minimise disruption for our neighbours we have introduced some new rules. These include

- No trespassing on any neighbour's property including driveways under any circumstances – see plan below.
- No parking anywhere in the street
- If there are any questions or complaints from neighbours, please be courteous and note down the issue.

We often get requests for information and site visits - from student groups, professionals, communities, the media and curious individuals, and we do our best to respond to these enquiries.

Over the coming months site access will be limited to those concerned by site works and the relevant RUSS teams and members. Any other requests for updates and information should contact school@theruss.org

Press inquiries should contact ted@theruss.org

We will also regularly post updates on our social media channels and on our website, as and when there is something to share.

Thank you for your interest and support, and for your co-operation.
